

LINKS AND RESOURCES

Below you will find a wealth of links to websites of governmental, non-governmental organisations and commercial associations and other information sources with relevance to CITES, wildlife trade in the EU, biodiversity and species conservation and various other issues, including law enforcement. The links are structured into International Links that include links to international and EU institutions and organisations, legislation and information resources, National

Links that are classified by EU Member State and divided into subcategories of subjects and stakeholders with relevance to wildlife trade (e.g. hobbyists' associations and traders' federations). Links to Animal Care Sheets and Fair Regulations and a Bibliography with a list of references to publications on nomenclature and CITES may be found at the end of this document.

Important Note: Information and links provided below are far from being complete and we encourage users to send us suggestions on website links to be considered for inclusion in this website (see Contact). Furthermore, it is our goal to keep the information up-to-date and accurate. However, if errors such as "dead" websites or changes in website address are brought to our attention, we will try to correct them as soon as possible.

TRAFFIC and the European Commission do not take any responsibility or liability for the content of external websites.
